

From: Joan Teresa Kloth-Zanard
Sent: Sunday, July 17, 2011 9:46 AM
To: contact@judicialcompensation.ny.gov
Subject: Judges Want more Money?

Dear Commission:

This is atrocious. It is bad enough that these judges need proper training in Family Law and High Conflict Divorce, especially in the area of Parental Alienation. But to ask for more money at the taxpayers expense to pay these judges to continue to disrupt and destroy families because they refuse to do the right thing by the children, is a travesty. I have been working with victims of Parental Alienation since 1997. In everyone of these cases, the judges have failed to protect the children from the parent that is destroying their relationship with the other parent. In everyone of these cases, the judge has refused to penalize the aggressive parent who alienates and denigrates the other parent. In everyone of these cases, the judges have failed to do the right thing and remove the children from the toxic environment or at the very least, court order specialized counseling for the aggressive parent along with some kind of penalty if they refuse to cooperate or continue to be in violation of the courts orders. Until these judges can put their foot down and stop letting this abuse continue, there is NO REASON for them to get a raise. The money could be better spent getting these judges properly trained so no more children's lives are destroyed by careless judges.

In stanch opposition for rewarding these judges for destroying families.

Joan Kloth-Zanard, LC, RSS, ABB

Parental Alienation Support and Intervention: A non-profit organization for the Prevention and Intervention of Parental Alienation.

www.PAS-Intervention.com

PASIntervention@aol.com

Author of "Where Did I Go Wrong? How Did I Miss the Signs? Dealing with Hostile Parenting and Parental Alienation"

Kloth Consulting

www.KlothConsulting.com

Consulting for Individuals, Families and Businesses